Splice of Life

Film makers splice bits and pieces of dramatic moments together to capture a story. Year-books splice memories together to capture the year. SPLICE OF LIFE reflects the spice of life at Lincoln as the 1986-87 year unfolds in pictures.

Homecoming assembly brings out excitement

September 22-26 was a week to remember as the year's Homecoming celebrations proved to be some of the most thrilling yet. Suspense and excitement started the week off with the Homecoming Court announcement.

Spirit Week began with some interesting apparel worn by various students. Tuesday started the week off with Hawaiian Day. Wednesday kicked off Clash Day, the most daring day of the week. Thursday not only signaled Dress-Up Day, but brought forth the traditional coronation assembly in which Swing I performed to My Romance and Let the Sun Shine In. Mark Pippett and Wendy Zagar passed on their crowns to Homecoming King and Queen Travis Burris and Danee Ferguson.

The spirit exploded Friday with Color Day and an extraordinary pep assembly. The cheerleaders surprised the crowd by plunging into their version of Great Balls of Fire by Jerry Lee Lewis. The Railettes entertained the audience by performing to Super Band Rap by the Chicago Bears. Then the crowd roared as the Blue Devils made their debut performance to Devil With a Blue Dress On by Mitch Ryder.

Cheerleaders show pep; crowds become excited

Cheerleaders did more than cheer this year; for the first time they also danced. Senior cheerleader, Christy Nicholson, choreographed a dance and taught it to all 20 members, which was performed at the homecoming assembly.

The Varsity Cheerleading squad consists of 12 members, all of whom cheered during the football games. Later they evenly separated into two squads. Kristi Durban was the captain of the squad which cheered for wrestling, girls' swimming, and girls' basketball. Captain Shirley Hurd and her squad cheered for volleyball, boys' swimming, and boys' basketball.

Both squads met weekly and worked together to organize such things as pep assemblies and fund raisers. The squads also painted signs on Thursday evenings to help promote more school spirit for the games on the following day.

All cheerleaders attended a cheerleading camp at Iowa State. They practiced weekly during the summer and continued this practice throughout the school year.

Senior and captain, Shirley Hurd, commented, "My final year as a cheerleader has gone by so fast leaving me with fond memories of my high school years."

Sophomores cheer teams to victory

The sophomore cheerleaders worked very hard throughout the summer learning cheers and chants to be well prepared for the year.

The girls also sponsored several fund-raising activities such as a bake sale, a rummage sale, and a car wash. With proceeds from these events and from the sale of raffle tickets, they were able to purchase new uniforms.

The squad consisted of eight sophomore girls, all of whom cheered freshman, sophomore, and JV football, basketball, and wrestling.

"Captain Liesl Hohenshell has shown excellent leadership ability and fairness in working with a squad which has demonstrated great spirit," commented sponsor Irene Bond.

Student Service offers 1/4 credit

During study hall hours, in order to earn one-fourth credit, students assist staff members in a variety of jobs. These jobs include working in the attendance office, counseling center, nurse's office, P.E. offices, and for individual faculty members.

Over 200 students are involved in student services. Vice Principal Al Graziano said, "The students are very responsible, efficient, and indispensable."

Assemblies fill students with excitement, pride

Pep assemblies are always filled with excitement when cheerleaders and other organizations perform to get the student body fired up for the many athletic programs.

Vice-principal Al Graziano and the cheerleaders spend hours on Tuesday nights organizing the pep assemblies.

The Railettes performed their energetic dance routines to keep the crowd thrilled and excited. The Drum Line again demonstrated their great talent to a very appreciative student body.

The Blue Devils mocked the Railettes by performing their own unique and creative dances for an enthusiastic crowd.

Young new Railettes gain school's respect

In their first year, the Railettes were successful as a combined dance and flag group. The team, consisting of 29 members, performed well with the Marching Band in October at the Marching Band Competition held in Cedar Rapids. They received a division "1" rating, both there and at the State Marching Band Contest in Ames the following week.

Two members from either dance or flag are eligible to try out for the Miss Drill Team of Iowa Competition. Maria Endres and Charice Long took part in dance, with Long winning second place. Desira Johnson and Amy Smidt entered the flag division.

Performing at the State of Iowa Drill Team Contest in December, the team received a "2" rating for their performance to the song Venus, and a "1" rating for performing to Boy in the Box.

The Drake Relays Parade started off the spring marching season. The team also marched at Veisha in Ames and in the Pella Parade in May.

Along with the combined efforts of various members, team captain Diana Daghestani, a junior, choreographed dances such as Super Band Rap, Hello, and Good Love.

Another '1' rating thrills Marchers

Refreshed and invigorated by their June trip to Honolulu, Hawaii, the Band began a new season.

Directors David Killinger and Janice Bowden, Drum major Mark Reynolds, and Field commanders Julie King and Shelley Smith led the Band through practices each day from 6:45 to 9 a.m. Practices were also held every Tuesday at 6 p.m. to prepare the Band for the State of Iowa Marching Contest held October 4 in Cedar Rapids and the State Marching Contest held October 11 at Iowa State University. The Band received a "1" rating at both competitions.

In addition, the Band also provided the half-time entertainment at four home football games.

In the spring, the Band participated in the Drake Relays Parade, the Pella Tulip Festival Parade, and the Veisha Parade at Iowa State University.

Bands show off musical abilities

Concert Band, directed by Janis Bowden, performed at the annual Winter and Spring Concerts. At the end of the year they combined with Wind Ensemble to play for Commencement ceremonies.

Jazz Bands I and II added much pep and enthusiasm to assemblies and home basketball games throughout the year. They also performed at several contests such as the state jazz contest, the Central College Jazz Festival, the Hoover Jazz Festival, and the Iowa Jazz Championship. They received a "1" rating at state contest and received various trophies and awards for their other performances.

Prep Band members, Teresa Wickersham, Amy Crane, and Missy Bingham prepare for another lesson in learning a new instrument to enhance their musical knowledge.

Concert, Swing II gain much experience

Prep swing is swinging and singing strong in their fourth year. Former music instructors and Director Carroll Bennink chose the selected students.

Prep swing performed a show February 28 and competed at Urbandale High School and at Jefferson High School in Cedar Rapids.

The students gained much experience and were graded on their performance.

Patience and practice were key issues for Concert Choir to make their performances memorable ones. In May the group performed in a competition in Chicago. Throughout the year, they sold various items and even performed a concert to raise money for the trip.

Show Choir performs for prestigious people

Swing I participated in many competitions, taking second place at the McDonald's Urbandale Competition and fourth at the Cedar Rapids Jefferson Competition.

They attended the Appollo Competition at Westmar College in LeMars, Iowa. "Something new and different," commented Director Carroll Bennink.

Swing Choir is highly sought after by downtown businesses and the group did a large number of shows in the community.

Chamber Chorale dazzles audience

Leading Chamber Chorale were All-State winners Angie Cave, Kristi Durban, Nicolle Folland, Greg McCoy, David Pulliam, and Meredith Rinker.

In March Chamber Chorale once again went to the Ogden Chamber contest where they have taken first place for the past two years.

The group performed various shows at Younkers, the Rotary Club, Wakonda Country Club and the Festival of Trees at the Civic Center in December.

Chamber Chorale held their annual fall show in the auditorium and their spring show took place at the Botanical Center.

Lisa Speck and Lori McNulty said, "The music was such a challenge, yet the experience was rewarding." Linda Lane commented, "Chamber Chorale is an experience I'll never forget."

New Honor Society builds leadership

The National Honor Society is an organization that honors good grades and leadership qualities. To become a member a student must have maintained a grade point average of 3.6 or higher for five consecutive semesters, must be recommended by three teachers, and must be considered a good student.

Officers were Cheri Johnson, president; Russ Kuhn, vice-president; Meredith Rinker, secretary; Melissa Johansen, treasurer; and Pam Coleman, historian. In order to fulfill requirements to make a contribution to the community, members organized a "taxi service" to drive party-goers home from the mixers after home basketball games and sponsored the Students Against Drunk Driving (SADD) assemblies in February.

Resolved: To win tournaments, trophies

Debate team, coached by Carole Dickey, director of forensics, and Mike Miller, a former Lincoln student active in debate, had a successful year, bringing home 30 trophies from 15 tournaments. In addition to debate, the team was also involved in mock trial. They did a demonstration during October for the Lawyers Partnership Conference at Drake University.

Coach Dickey commented, "Thanks to the leadership of five competent officers—President Laura Tucker, Vice-President Scott Clair, Public Relations Mekhine Baccam, Treasurer Todd Herriott, and Secretary Kristie Carnine—this has been a successful year."

Drama department presents fall play

By The Skin of Our Teeth, a comedy written by Thornton Wilder, was the fall play presented November 21-22. The play is about a family that follows a series of events from the invention of the wheel to the end of the world.

The fall play was the only play directed this year by Wayne Silka, who left for Japan to teach during the spring semester. Mr. Silka said, "The experience of the play will be remembered a long time."

Spring performance attracts good crowd

The Curious Savage by John Patrick was the spring play presented April 3-4 in the auditorium. Under the direction of Kate Hoerl, the play was a big success.

The play is based on the attempts of an elderly widowed woman played by Jeanne Truitt to put her inheritance to good use. Meanwhile, her step children, Titus, Samuel, and Lilly Belle (played by Abraham Cabbage, Jeff Jorgenson, and Marla Wright) have committed her to a sanitarium in hopes of securing her sizable fortune for themselves.

"There is no such thing as a small actor; just small parts," commented the cast.

"The cast and crew are just jewels and Mrs. Hoerl is great to work with," Jeannie Truitt said.

U.N., foreign students expand their horizons

Six foreign exchange students attended Lincoln: Carmen Drazek and Bernd Bauer, Germany; Fredrick Danielson and Alexandra Martin, Sweden; Oscar Munoz, Columbia; Christina Kallas, Brazil. Fredrick was voted All-Metro kicker for football by the Des Moines Register, Christina was on the volleyball team, and Oscar swam the breaststroke for the swim team.

Fifteen juniors were chosen to take the United Nations trip over spring break. The students went by bus to Washington, D.C., and New York and enjoyed sight seeing and shopping. Meetings with senators and delegates were scheduled as well as visits to the newly renovated Statue of Liberty.

Participants submitted an application and an essay to the United Nations Board who then selected 80 students from Polk county.

Some of the sights that the U.N. trip participants had the opportunity to see: 1. The nation's capitol in Washington, D.C. 2. The Statue of Liberty in New York City.

Foreign exchange students: Oscar Munoz, Fredrick Danielson, Alexandra Martin, Carmen Drazek, Bernd Bauer, Christina Kallas.

Council supports many programs

Student Council promotes many school activities and is dedicated to serving the community.

The Blood Center's annual blood drive, February 3, was a great success. Over 100 pints of blood were donated by students and faculty. This was Student Council's seventh year to sponsor the drive.

The canned food drive, held the week before Christmas break, helped the community with the donations of canned items to needy families.

Student Council organized the spirit week festivities and sold spirit ribbons during football season.

Motivation, enthusiasm help Dorian Art succeed

Dorian Art Club, one of Lincoln's oldest clubs once again brightened up the school by garnishing the front hall during Christmas and decorating the gym for Homecoming.

Led by Dale McLean, sponsor, the club met in room 17 for homeroom each morning and consisted of 28 sophomores, juniors and seniors.

President Robb Jacobsen commented, "Since I've been in the club I've seen a lot of good groups. But this year's group is the best yet. I think everyone in the club has shown a lot of enthusiasm."

Each year the club donates a piece of art work to the school. These hang in different school offices, but Dorian Art's ongoing goal is to eventually establish an art gallery in the building.

Rails Club entertains at community centers

Rails Club, a community service group sponsored by Sally Fisher, met in room 236 every month on the first and third Wednesday.

Rails Club sponsored the Sweetheart Dance, which was held on Saturday, February 14, and it was a night to remember. For entertainment, the group Now and Then performed, and the announcements for Sweetheart and Man-of-the-Year from each grade were made. Everyone gathered around to honor the winners.

Along with decorating the football field for Homecoming, Rails Club dressed in costume for Halloween, visiting children at the Little Lamb Day Care Center, Mercy Hospital and Commonwealth Day Care Center where they went for Christmas.

For the Easter holiday they went to the children's hospitals, nursing homes, and day care centers where they took Easter favors for the children. Led by President Julie Overton, Secretary Angela Brown, Treasurer Jodi Darrah, and Historian Christina Cargliano, the club is open to everyone.

Sally Fisher commented, "Rails Club has grown from 12 to 50 students in one year. I am so pleased that so many students are interested in participating in activities which benefit our school and the community."

the RAILSPLITTER

Under the leadership of Co-editors Cammie White and Cheri Johnson, the Railsplitter completed nine successful issues. The 17-member staff worked daily to seek out interesting and intriguing topics for each issue of the paper.

"We had an exceptional staff this year," commented Co-editor Cheri Johnson. "The group worked well together and I was excited to be a part of it. The experience of being an editor has left me with memories I will have for a lifetime."

"I'm really glad that I had the experience of leading the Railsplitter staff, it is something I will never forget," said Cammie White, Co-editor. "I had fun working with the staff and want to thank them for their dedication. We never could have done it without the teamwork."

"The staff was creative and I enjoyed working with them," said Adviser Diane Weir.

Design adds spice; ideas add originality

A unique new look and many creative ideas helped make the 1987 yearbook special. Supervised by Diane Weir and led by Co-editors-in-chief Tricia Zarley and Mike Edwards, staff members worked together to get the yearbook completed for spring delivery.

After the theme, A Splice of Life, was chosen, the staff immediately went to work selling ads, taking pictures, and writing copies to complete a book full of memories. Although deadlines were barely met, the yearbook gradually began to take shape.

Teamwork is essential to accomplish the awesome (and sometimes aggravating), task of putting together a yearbook. "The yearbook never would have been completed if the staff hadn't been able to compromise and work together. It has been a privilege to work with everyone," commented Co-editors-in-chief Tricia Zarley and Mike Edwards.

Girls win metro crown; bag 5th in State Tourney

Earning a berth in the state tournament, the fiery Railettes once again had an outstanding season. The softball team took a five-day trip to Fort Dodge and finished up fifth in state.

This team had a first place preseason ranking and sustained the title for most of the season. They met several goals and also broke many records.

Winning the Jack North, Indianola, and Norwalk tournaments, the girls finished 41-8 overall and took the Metro with an impressive 13-1 record.

Leading the way were pitchers Jenny Caskey and Angie Tamasi who combined their talents in paving the way to numerous victories. The five All-Metro picks were Angie Armstrong, Penny Coffin, DeAnn Ibrahim, Mary Sims, and Angie Tamasi.

Coach John Ligouri commented, "A lot of hard work and effort went a long way. Next year, the team is looking to add to the Metro titles and return to state coming out the winners."

Baggers are rewarded after successful season

The Rails began their season ranked No.1 in the state. Even though they didn't hold onto the No.1 ranking, they provided plenty of excitement in a 17-14 season. Several of the Baggers were rewarded for their talent. Jay Bendixen, Mike Cook, and Aaron Cherry were chosen for the All-Metro Second Team; Jack Whisler, Todd Garrington, Todd Roland, and Jeff Ogden were picked as honorable mention.

Highlights of the season included winning the Indianola Tournament, upsetting Metro Champions, the East High Scarlets, for the District Championship qualifying them to play in Sub-State.

Railsplitters bid farewell to 10 seniors including Todd Roland who commented, "Most of us have been together since Little League, and it was our ultimate goal to win State, but even though we didn't it was still a season we can all look back on and be proud of."

This was also Coach Tom Lee's last year as the baseball coach. He said that although he thoroughly enjoyed coaching baseball, he wished to devote more time to basketball and could not give equal time needed to both sports. Coach Lee has never had a losing season at Lincoln.

Soccer teams progress; enhance skills for future

The soccer team, in its second year, was coached by John Leo and Dan Paulson. Although the team had a disappointing season with a 3-12-1 record, the Rails fought hard, overcoming Ames, North, Hoover, and tying No. 1 rated Valley in their final game. Tony Martendale said, "Even though we weren't the best team, we had a lot of fun trying to be. We hope to be much better next year." Key players for the Rails were Tony Martendale, Byong Yi, Mark Christensen, and Freshman goalie Brian Searcy.

Golfers finish well in new fall season

For the first year, the boys season started in the fall and Orville Siers joined Coach Dave McGinnis as assistant coach. The season started with a Metro tournament at Waveland just two weeks before school.

Throughout the year, the team kept improving. Brad Helmuth shot medalist at Grandview with a 35 and was a great leader as a senior team captain. Senior Sam Evans, Junior Doug Keller, and Sophomores Jeff Bianchi and Jeff Herzberg scored consistently throughout the year.

An impressive score of 327 at the Valley Classic inspired the team, and a victory at Grandview against Roosevelt boosted confidence before Districts.

Thirteen teams participated at Districts and Lincoln finished only two strokes behind East, yet succeeded in defeating North, Roosevelt, and five other teams in order to take fifth place.

The Spikers, led by Seniors Son Chae and Laurene Moore, finished their season with an outstanding 24-8-1 record, tying for second in the Metro Conference. At the Metro Conference Tournament, the team took the consolation round and at the Indianola Tournament earlier in the season, Mary Wellinghoff, Amy Riccio, and Son Chae were named to the All-Tournament Team.

The team showed real improvement throughout the season and Coach Bob Corey commented, "I'm very proud of the girls and the work they did this season. We should be even better next season with many returning starters."

Inexperienced Harriers are expected to improve

The girls cross country team placed 5th in the Metro, sending Staci Cowan to State. Cowan was one of the top five runners in Iowa, finishing 4th in Districts and 6th in Metro.

At the Ewing Park meet Cowan placed 1st; Melody Knowles placed 2nd; and Jill Johnson placed 4th, helping the Harriers take three of the top five placings. The team did especially well in the Urbandale Invitational and at Ankeny.

The boys team placed 8th in the Metro. According to Coach Dave Bennett, the team was young and inexperienced, but they worked hard and should be more experienced next year.

Senior Darin Rippey was the only returning letterwinner. Rippey and four other team members earned letters this year: Robert Allen, Sean Angus, Larry Loffredo, and Carl Thomas.

New football coach emphasizes spirit

With establishing a winning tradition at Lincoln as his goal, Coach Tim Miller began his first year as head football coach. A former coach from Waterloo Central, Coach Miller won the Big 8 Conference in his first year there. "It doesn't matter where you coach, if you treat the people fairly and are consistent with them, you get good results," Coach Miller stated. Senior Bryan Edwards commented, "It was really an experience playing under Coach Miller. Although we didn't win a lot of games, we learned spirit, respect, and class."

Although the team had only a 3-6 overall record, two players were named first team All Metro; Ted Bolton, center; Fredrick Danielson, place kicker. Five players received honorable mention: Jeff Benn, Travis Burris, Mark Jacobs, Brad Dittmar, and Noel Brdicko.

Rails finish season 3-6; two named All-Metro

The Gridders finished their season 2-5 in the Metro and 3-6 overall. They started their season on a high note with a win over Marshalltown, the first win under new coach Tim Miller. They then suffered losses to East and Valley.

Facing second ranked Ames for Homecoming, the Rails suffered a devastating 51-6 loss. The team played well, but had a bad night against a good team.

Hoover cost the Rails another game. Then the Gridders had a surprising 28-27 win over Roosevelt.

Hoping to ruin the Maroon's record, the Rails faced arch-rival Dowling, but failed to do so with a 20-0 loss. A big 31-6 win over North finished the metro season, followed by a loss to Newton to end the year.

Young Gridders learn new skills for future

The JV, sophomore, and freshman football teams learned important skills that will be valuable to them in the future. The main goal for the year was to ready the players for varsity football.

The JV football team got off to a slow start with losses to Valley, Newton, and East, and finished the season 0-7.

Coach Ace Hendricks said, "We're basically not concerned with our win-loss record. Our main reason for playing JV football is to gain experience for varsity competition."

The sophomore football team got off to a fair start and ended the season 4-4. Quarterback Jamey DeAngelo said, "We've improved greatly from last year and we are going to surprise a lot of teams in the future."

The freshman football team ended their season 1-7 but learned new skills each week. Freshman quarterback Steve Tomlinson said, "Playing football for Lincoln has been a great experience for me. I love football and the program at Lincoln is a tremendous one."

Team advances most to State since 1979

Coaches Tom Cady and Dan Paulson had nothing to be ashamed of despite the Tankers' misleading record of only two wins; they had a very successful season.

The Tankers placed an impressive 3rd in the district meet, qualifying the most swimmers since 1979 to the state meet. State swimmers were all underclassmen: Karen Spidle, 50-yard freestyle, 100-yard butterfly, and 400-yard freestyle relay; Amber Wegner, 50-yard freestyle, 100-yard backstroke, and 400-yard freestyle relay; Marilee Sparks and Valerie Kaczmarek, 400-yard freestyle relay. Senior Betsy Bradner was the alternate for the relay team.

Adding to the excitement of the state meet, three records were broken as well. Karen Spidle broke her own record in the 50-yard freestyle with a new time of 25.88. She also broke the 100-yard butterfly record previously held by Beda Soliday. Amber Wegner broke the old school record of 106.1 in the 100-yard backstroke, replacing it with a time of 105.9.

After finishing 21st of 80 teams in the state meet, senior Tri-captains Betsy Bradner, Shelley Hutchinson, and Laurie Weaver had no trouble showing the younger swimmers how hard work and team effort can pay off. "The girls are wet and wonderful and a joy to work with! I'm happy to be back," Coach Tom Cady commented.

Tankers exhibit skill; advance four to State

Despite a record of 5-5, the boys swimming and diving team had a spectacular season that culminated with the 200-yard medley relay team and 100-yard backstroke Ethan Johnston, advancing to the State Meet in Iowa City.

Prior to the State Meet, the Tankers had a very successful District meet, finishing fourth overall and placing several swimmers in the top six of their events. Both the 200-yard medley relay and the 400-yard free style relay finished in fourth place.

The 200-yard medley relay team of Sophomore Ethan Johnston, and Seniors Alan Surbaugh, Mike Edwards, and Doug Thompson, went into the State Meet ranked 24th and ended up 22nd with their best time ever of 1:48.76.

Ethan Johnston also competed in the 100-yard backstroke where he obtained 16th place and broke the school record (held by his brother Evan Johnston, '84), with a time of 59.67 seconds.

New Head Coach Stan Thompson who was quite pleased with the team's performance, said, "It has been a terrific season: Captains Oscar Corredor, Doug Thompson, and Mike Edwards really led this team through one of the most enjoyable years of my career."

Dunham goes to State; injuries plague team

Highlighting the season, Jerry Dunham, 138 lbs, placed 6th in the state, losing to last year's state champ. Along with Dunham, seven other Matmen placed in the top 10 at districts, while the team finished 5th overall.

Injuries plagued three wrestlers all year (George Ashman, Kevin McCarthy and Steve Dillard), resulting in a Metro record of only 2-7.

Outstanding wrestlers among the 22 letterwinners were Senior Mark Sterns; Juniors Jerry Dunham, Brian Berry and Jason Mournal; and Freshman Eddie Dunham.

Assistant Coach David McGinnis said of his young team, "The lineup for next year looks really good if our letterwinners return."

Varsity girls place 4th at state tourney

In only the second year of five-on-five competition, the girls varsity basketball team took fourth place in the state tournament. This was the first appearance that the Lincoln girls have made in tournament action at Veterans Memorial Auditorium, and Junior Missy Baker was named to the All-Tournament team.

Finishing the season with an 18-8 overall record, the girls were led by Senior Lori Bonanno and Juniors Missy Baker, Tracy Chapman, Melissa Daughenbaugh, and Dotty Henrichs. Daughenbaugh led the state in steals throughout the season, and Baker was the Metro scoring leader.

Lori Bonanno commented, "This season has been the greatest and luckiest year for our team. Going to state and being on the team has made my senior year the best!"

Self defense sparks new student interest

In the new Tae Kwon Do Club, students learned basic techniques of self-defense, self-control, and mental discipline.

The class began as an idea of Senior Changyon Pak who holds a black belt in the art of Tae Kwon Do. Pak felt if the club could be a school sponsored activity, it would attract students who might otherwise not join a Tae Kwon Do Club. Enrollment has steadily increased since the class was opened to students for the first time this fall. Bob Corey, also a black belt, is the supervisor/instructor.

Varsity gains respect; earns tournament berth

For the first time since 1981, the boys varsity basketball team earned a berth at the State Basketball Tournament held at Veterans' Memorial Auditorium. The Rails fell in a hard-fought battle against Valley in the first round of play, but were nevertheless proud of their accomplishments.

Led by Seniors Robert Johnson, Gerald Johnson, and Joel Drake, the Cagers had a successful 12-10 season.

Leading the team in scoring, and with a career total of 1717 points, first team all-conference pick Robert Johnson broke the all-time Metro scoring record of 1458 points set by Hoover's Joe Dykstra in 1978.

Coach Tom Lee said, "The major key to our success at the end of the season has been leadership displayed by Joel Drake and Robert Johnson, and the total team play of all the members of the team. At no time did the players doubt their ability or the goals they had set for themselves. As a result the team qualified for the State Tournament."

Girl golfers strive for excellent year

The girls' golf team was strongly supported by five returning letterwinners: Seniors Lorrie Daugherty and Teresa Gorsche and Juniors Laura Brody, Missy Baker, and Mary Wyckoff.

The teams, alongside Coach Jerry Shartner practice daily, except meet days and weekends, at Willow Creek Golf Course and driving range. The team strived for achievement, developing and improving their golf skills. They competed in meets against Metro schools, as well as other high schools in the state.

Schartner thought experience, enthusiasm, and overall improvement helped the team have a promising and successful season. "The season ended up being very fun and rewarding for all the girls," commented Senior Lorrie Daugherty.

Team strives to repeat another winning season

After beating Dowling in last year's state meet and finishing third, the girls tennis team had a difficult season to match. With returning letterwinners Son Chae, who has competed in individual state competition the past two years, Tricia Zarley, Tracy Chapman, Brooke Reichenbauer, and Kathy Murfin, the team had a competitive season.

Aaron Wolle, Rick Studins, Bill Spears, Brad Smith, and David Grout were the returning letterwinners for the boy's team this year. They worked very hard at their positions after losing their top two players from last year.

Fredrik Danielsen and Alexandra Martin, both exchange students from Sweden, were competitive additions to the boys and the girls teams.

1. Tricia Zarley follows through on a backhand. 2. Fredrik Danielson follows the ball. 3. Aaron Wolle finishes a top spin backhand. 4. Son Chae runs for a forehand. 5. Rick Stundins blocks a return.

Individuality provides leadership for season

The boys track team got off to a good start with Senior Darin Rippey receiving an award for outstanding runner at Lamoni, where he also set a new track record in the mile.

The second track meet didn't go as well when it was cancelled because of a bomb threat, but the year proved to be more successful as it progressed. The team consisted of six state hopefuls, one being John Kline.

The girls track team has 12 returning letterwinners: Billie Dyer, Mary Wellinohoff, Staci Cowen, Leanne Gensch, Lori Blaylock, Dawn Rector, Julie Wellinohoff, Bobbi German, Karyn Riechart, Chris Adams, Mindi Wood, and Vicki Constant. Opening the season at the Drake Indoor, Staci Cowen, placed sixth in the 3000 meter run. "The team consisted of many young runners, but age is not a virtue when there is the will to win behind it", said Melissa Nessen.

1. Melissa Nessen and Lisa Schnathorst warm up before practice. 2. Bryan Edwards and Greg Leaper pace each other. 3. Greg Ickowitz works on his sprints. 4. Darin Rippey puts in a few miles. 5. Tony Martendale warms up before a time trial.

Academics

Lincoln students meet excellence challenges

In the past five year period, the Des Moines school district, including Lincoln High School, has adopted critical changes to upgrade the educational program in the Des Moines Public Schools. Among other things, it has increased graduation requirements, added homework, added stress on the basics, and called for an overall attitude to improve education in the public schools.

Lincoln High School has responded to this challenge with outstanding merit scholar winners, outstanding vocal and instrumental music programs, a student on the All-State Academic team, and a National Mock Trial Championship team.

Lincoln has re-activated its National Honor Society chapter and offered academic letters to recognize excellence. "These are just a few of the recent achievements at Lincoln High School," Principal Melvin J. Bowen commented, "and I am sure that many more achievements will be forthcoming. This is a credit to the Lincoln students, the community, and the faculty at Lincoln High School."

DECA provides marketing skills

Distributive Education Club of America (DECA) teaches retail and marketing skills. Students are released from school in the afternoon to work at jobs requiring skills relating to their class work.

In order to raise money to attend area and state conferences, DECA sold Fun Kits and sausage and cheese.

First hour DECA officers are Mary Simms, president; Pat Smith, vice-president; and Stephanie Garrett, secretary/treasurer. Third hour class officers are Chris Conn, president; Jill Maldonado, vice-president; and Chantelle Kiplinger, secretary/treasurer.

1. Tracey Leech works on her assignment in DECA class. 2. Gaining work experience, Holly Gear totals up a customer's order. 3. Leakol Schooler works on the computer at her afternoon office job in the Lincoln High School attendance office. 4. Michelle Weddell looks over her work before she begins.

Office Education prepares students

Office Education Association (OEA), a business course that specializes in teaching office skills, provides students with afternoon office jobs. This training provides experiences and references for future work.

Various fund raisers throughout the year help pay for student participation in regional, state and national competition. Eleven OEA students attended the regional leadership conference. First place awards went to Kris Bird, Jeanie Mayfield, Georgette Robbins, Leakol Schooler, and Angie Hannah, who was the only person to receive two first place awards. Six second place awards, three third place awards, and nine honorable mentions were also received.

OEA elects officers to organize social events and hold class meetings. Officers are Marsha Bianchi, president; Jeanie Mayfield and Lisa Kellis, vice-president; Lisa Thiekle, secretary; Kris Bird, treasurer; Georgette Robbins, historian; and Lisa Mefferd, reporter.

Marsha Bianchi commented, "It is a terrific learning experience that is very helpful later in the big business world."

Social science offers many helpful courses

A large number of classes fall under the category of social science: World History, American History, Government, Economics, Psychology, Sociology, and the newest addition, International Relations. International Relations is a study of the factors that cause nations to behave the way they do. The course also analyzes modern terrorism and the foreign policies of selected nations.

Seven students visited Washington, D. C., with the Close-Up program in March. Close-Up is a nationwide program designed to help teachers and their students to become directly involved in government branches. They met Congressman Neal Smith, went to seminars, and met with lobbyists and journalists.

The Know Your Constitution test was taken by Senior Doug Brooks and Junior Cheryl Cropp. Both were honored at a luncheon at the Savery Hotel where Doug Brooks won a drawing for a trip to Washington, D.C.

Business classes challenge students

Due to the many technological changes, the American economy is no longer dominated by agriculture and manufacturing. It is rapidly becoming a service and information-processing society. To prepare for the present and future changes, students enrolled in the various business classes are receiving knowledge and training in the information-processing fields.

Computers and text-editing equipment are used in the office procedures courses for word processing applications. Students taking Introduction to Computer Programming learn to write computer programs using the BASIC language. In Accounting II, financial statements and reports are prepared by the students using an Apple IIe computer.

With the accessibility of this and other equipment, plus the many other educational opportunities at Lincoln, students have a better concept of their future career possibilities.

Advanced classes prove successful

Advanced Placement English and Senior English were introduced this year to senior students. Combining both Expository Writing and Literary Masterpieces, these classes consist of composition and literature and were created as college preparatory courses. Gretchen Kauffman, who teaches both classes, commented on A.P. English, "It is a wonderful opportunity for high school students to be rewarded for hard work and commitment. Receiving college credit in high school saves valuable time and lots of money!"

Creative writing, journalism, drama, and debate are other elective courses offered by the English department.

Students develop skills for future homemaking

Home economics courses enable students to develop skills in everyday living. The classes include Textiles and Clothing, Child Development, Personal and Family Living, and Foods and Nutrition.

Junior Terry Karpan, who took Textiles and Clothing, said, "I've learned a lot about the updated styles in clothes and how to make them."

Elizabeth Edwards, instructor of the Foods and Nutrition course, said, "It is a growing department with a lot of activity and enrichment. That helps the students with current, everyday family living."

Language classes find new computer helps

The purpose of the Foreign Connection Club is to supplement educational development of the club members. The club also provides activities outside of the class.

The foreign language teachers often give students a break by planning a night-time gathering at their favorite cultural restaurant. In the fall the students dined at Chi Chi's where they welcomed the foreign exchange students to Lincoln.

French, Latin, and Spanish classes became computerized this year. In order to help Iowa schools encourage foreign language study, an Apple IIe computer was purchased. The funds came from an enrichment grant from the legislature. The computer is available to students before and after school, during foreign language class, or while a student is in study hall. It is used for additional practice on vocabulary, grammar skills, areas where a student is weak, or for make-up work when a student has been absent.

Math students learn computer use, skills

"We want to acquaint more students with computer use to solve mathematical problems. Our emphasis is on being a user rather than a programmer. We want students to develop their math skills to the degree necessary for them to succeed in future education and life," commented Gary Bagby, department chairperson.

According to Mr. Bagby, the math department will have two classes which are computer oriented for remedial purposes. The students who will be helped by this program include those having difficulty with introductory math courses and others to be determined by testing.

Science students prepare for future

The science department offers many different science classes: Earth Science, Biology, Physics, Chemistry, Conservation, Botany, Advanced Zoology, and Consumer Chemistry.

According to Tom Scott, chairman of the science department, the main goal of the department is to offer courses which will provide students with an introduction to different areas of science so the students can make more knowledgeable decisions concerning things that will affect their future.

PE stresses fun, physical fitness

"Though it's trite, it is true that a sound mind can't function without a sound body," said Tom Cady, physical education teacher.

Throughout high school, physical education is a required course in one way or another. It is either a scheduled course or a contract PE activity, where the student selects some activity that involves two hours of exercise a week. Activities such as bowling or jogging weekly are acceptable to the staff.

Many students prefer to take their physical education as a class. The class is divided into six-week sessions which consist of various activities: basketball, volleyball, swimming, track, and softball to name a few.

Many students favor study hall alternatives

Lincoln's library has been selected as one of three schools to be part of a pilot program to introduce an electronic circulation system into the district libraries. With this new system, books will be checked out by computer. The new system will eliminate problems caused by unreadable signatures and placing the wrong card in the book pocket. This system requires that each student show an ID in order to check out books.

The library staff will also be able to use the computer to inventory books, a task which must be completed each spring.

Student Center is offered to juniors and seniors to substitute for study hall. In the Student Center, students may play foosball and video games, listen to music, or eat from a large selection of snacks. Money spent here goes back into the school to help support various activities.

Music groups work hard for top honors

Both the vocal and instrumental music programs offered an array of classes: Varsity Choir, Treble Choir, Concert Choir, Chamber Chorale, Swing I, Swing II. For instrumental students; Band, Orchestra, Jazz Band I, Jazz Band. "Although it has been a hectic year it has been fun," said Vocal Music Director Carroll Bennink.

Art students receive recognition at contest

Instructed by Dale McLean and Donna Yeast, art students worked enthusiastically to develop skills and prepare for contests. Projects in the curriculum range from crafts to advanced drawing assignments.

In the Scholastic Art Contest, perhaps the most highly regarded contest of the year, three students received gold key awards, while 19 others received honorable mention. The gold key winners were Frank Cardamon, mixed media; Chris Connolly, ink drawing; Todd Herriott, ink drawing.

Driver ed classes teach vital skills

Driver Education is a very popular and crowded class. It is offered first semester only since instructors are needed at other schools. Six driving instructors handle 360 students in a program that is divided into three parts: class, simulator, and car.

Students are taken on an age and grade basis. Seniors are given priority, followed by the underclass, according to birthdate. Students also have an opportunity to take the class during the summer or after school at Central Campus.

1. Eric Arkerman learns basic driving skills in the simulator. 2. Ron Baeth instructs Tracey Wignall, Erica Mazza, and Chris Kelley how to drive on ice and snow. 3. Frank Griffen takes the car out of PARK. 4. Ray McAdam goes for an early morning spin.

Industrial art classes provide future skills

The industrial art department provides classes to plan for the future in five different areas of study: wood and metal shops, drafting, graphic arts, and auto mechanics.

Students can turn their hobbies into fun and exciting trade skills. These classes have instruction for the beginner as well as the advanced student. Projects range from students working on their own cars in auto mechanics to drawing blueprints in drafting.

"The new graphic arts program will provide an opportunity for students to become aware of the many occupations available in the Des Moines area in printing-related fields," said Gene Clark. "Architecture class has given me a broad base for college. Most importantly, I have become familiar with CAD computer systems," said Gina Daghestani.

1. Chris Lawless and Mike Roberts work on new ideas for drafting. 2. Chad Hutchinson draws up plans for a jewelry box. 3. Bill Spears sets type on the poster press. 4. Tom Ward drills a piece of metal in shop class. 5. Mike Miller and Tom Breese attempt an oil change.

Peer Helpers, SIL make transitions

Peer Helpers is a select group of 20 juniors who are trained in listening and communication techniques, and also in developing a positive self image. In the fall of next year they will help junior high students adjust to the transition to high school, and through a type of big brother/sister program they will work with elementary children in a mutually beneficial experience. "Elementary children look up to Peer Helpers, learn by working with them, and enjoy the interaction," said Lorie Streyfeller.

The Students in Leadership program develops leadership by getting the students involved in making decisions as a group. Students in Leadership have three major components: self-awareness, leadership development, and student involvement. Members are selected on the basis of potential and demonstrated leadership ability. The SIL program is sponsored by Judy Griffin and Drew Cannon. They meet once a month at different Des Moines Schools.

Various projects keep counselors quite busy

It all begins in the counseling center. A listening ear is sought and found. Schedules are made and changed. Problems are presented and solved. Counselors have their work cut out for them!

In addition, counselors deal with testing (ITED, ACT, PSAT, SAT), scholarships and financial aid for college.

Counselors work with the special education program, the school nurse, psychologist, speech clinician and social worker to provide special services where indicated.

Computers help run this office efficiently, sorting and recording vast amounts of information, so that friendly and caring counselors will have more time for individual conferences with students.

1. Putting in many long hours, Dennis Peacock pages through ITED answer sheets in the counseling center. 2. Atop a slightly cluttered desk, Lorrie Streyffeler discusses various courses for Troy Thacker's future. 3. Richard Eaton waits as Maurice Hansen puts the finishing touches on his schedule change. 4. Richard Malliet does his best to answer questions.

Central Campus classes challenge student ability

Central Campus offers courses in as many as 26 vocational/technical areas, as well as 12 academic courses not available in Metro high schools. Students who choose to attend Central Campus take three class period sessions in the morning or in the afternoon. Morning classes meet from 8:45 to 10:45, and afternoon classes meet from 11:25 to 2:25. Approximately 325 Lincoln students attend Central Campus.

Walt Wilson, CC counselor commented, "Students who enroll have an opportunity to gain over a thousand hours of training in a vocational area of their choice, and academic students may take unique courses that are not available in the average high school."

1. Cindy Wilts gets her knee bandaged in Practical Nursing. 2. Shlonda Butts shows Shannon Dewitty how to sew a button hole. 3. Tim Rush is on the air on 88.1 KDPS during Radio and TV Broadcasting. 4. Susan Bowers looks over a negative before making a final print.

NJROTC offers many advantages

In its first year, Naval Junior Reserve Training Corps (NJROTC) has enrolled 50 students. Commander Clinton Land of the U.S. Navy instructs classes first and sixth hour at Kurtz Junior High. The program is a 3-year curriculum designed to promote self-control, self-discipline, and self-esteem.

NJROTC offers many future advantages. After graduation, cadets may enlist in any branch of the service at an advanced pay grade. They also have a better chance to get ROTC scholarships and nominations to military academies.

NJROTC is a special opportunity for Lincoln students to develop leadership skills and open many career doors.

Senior officers plan action-packed year

The Seniors first priority was to choose their class officers. The officers planned and helped organize the various senior activities with the help of homeroom representatives.

Noel Brdicko was elected president of the senior class. Some of his responsibilities were working with all the committees and leading the seniors.

Michael Bastian was elected vice-president. He helped with Class Day along with faculty sponsor Eugene Clark.

David Keck, secretary, took notes and sent out invitations to guest speakers.

Gina Daghestani, treasurer, handled the financial details which included announcements and name card money and senior dues.

Senior Banquet was held April 10 at the Des Moines Marriott Hotel. Filet mignon was selected as the entree.

Senior Prom was May 9 at the Drake Olmsted Center. Midnight Masquerade was chosen as the theme with black, silver, and red as the colors. Masks, glasses, keychains and pendants were sold to raise money. The committee, with the help of faculty sponsors Gary Bagby and Tim Miller, decorated and prepared everything for the special night.

Scholarships and awards were given to outstanding seniors at Class Day, May 29. Class Day also helped seniors prepare for graduation.

Commencement took place at Veterans Memorial Auditorium, May 31 at 2 p.m. The guest speaker was Dr. Ray Pugh.

Our senior year is the end of a very long road. On this road we had some ups and downs, but always seemed to make things work. We made new friendships that we will cherish for a lifetime. Now it is time to start the journey down a whole new road — to start the rest of our lives and go our separate ways.

A black and white photograph of a long, straight path lined with trees, receding into the distance. The path is made of light-colored material, possibly stone or concrete, and is flanked by dense, leafy trees that form a natural canopy. The path leads towards a small, dark structure in the distance. The overall mood is serene and contemplative.

The Road goes ever on and on
Down from the door where it began.
Now far ahead the Road has gone,
And I must follow, if I can,
Pursuing it with eager feet,
Until it joins some larger way
Where many paths and errands meet.
And whither then? I cannot say.

- 1996). The authors also found that the frequency of use of the Internet was positively related to the frequency of use of the telephone. This finding is consistent with the idea that the Internet is a new communication technology that is being used in much the same way as the telephone. The authors also found that the frequency of use of the Internet was positively related to the frequency of use of the computer. This finding is consistent with the idea that the Internet is a new communication technology that is being used in much the same way as the computer. The authors also found that the frequency of use of the Internet was positively related to the frequency of use of the television. This finding is consistent with the idea that the Internet is a new communication technology that is being used in much the same way as the television.

These findings suggest that the Internet is being used in much the same way as other communication technologies. This is consistent with the idea that the Internet is a new communication technology that is being used in much the same way as other communication technologies.
